

ABSTRACT

OF THE ACADEMIC DISCIPLINE

"CONFLICTOLOGY"

Within the framework of studying this course, professional conflictological competence is formed, master's students acquire a sufficient level of conflict culture for constructive social and professional interaction, in particular in the context of management activities, pragmatic analysis, constructive resolution and prevention of conflicts in social and professional practices.

Within the topics "Theoretical and methodological principles of conflictology", "Conflict Management", students work with scientific literature and other sources of information, in particular with the Internet, perform oral and written tasks, act with information and presentations prepared by them as group and / or individual projects, simulate various formats of conflicts in professional interaction.

THE PURPOSE OF THE COURSE

The purpose of the course:

– formation of a system of scientific knowledge in the field of theory and practice of social conflict; acquiring the skills of pragmatic analysis, constructive resolution and prevention of conflicts in social and professional practices; formation of competence in the field of conflict management and self-correlation.